Financial Times 2022 ranking of the best European Business Schools: Excelia Business School in the Top 14 in France!

The Financial Times has today published its European Business Schools 2022 ranking, listing the Top 95 Business Schools in Europe.

This ranking consolidates the results obtained by European schools in each of the rankings compiled by the Financial Times in 2022: MBA, EMBA, Masters in Management and Executive Education. Excelia Business School has moved up 3 places to 61st European Business School.

Two determining factors contributing to Excelia Business School's progression

This latest rise in the Financial Times' ranking of the best European Business Schools was achieved thanks to 2 key elements:

- Excelia Business School entering a new ranking: last May, for the first time in its history, the school was included in the prestigious Customised Executive Education ranking of the Financial Times, where it featured 58th in the world and 9th in France.
- A marked progression in the FT ranking of the best Masters worldwide: last September, its Master in Management was ranked 36th in the world. As in the previous year, the programme climbed 6 places and the school was ranked 8th among the French management schools featured.

The year 2022 once again demonstrates Excelia Business School's consistently strong performance in the prestigious Financial Times rankings.
